

CLONING SERVICE QUESTIONNAIRE

Thank you for your interest in our cloning service. Before you submit your specimens, we have a few pre-requisite questions for you:

Your Name		Company or Organization Name
Address
City, State / Province, Country			Zip / Postal Code
Phone	Fax	email address
Genus/Species/Variety of the mushroom you are submitting
Host Habitat; what is the natural habitat of this mushroom? (If wood, list genus & species)
What is the county, province or prefecture this mushroom in which this mushroom was collected?
Who identified this mushroom? If different from you, please provide the person's name, telephone number and email address.
What form of spawn would you like? <input type="checkbox"/> Plug Spawn <input type="checkbox"/> Sawdust Spawn <input type="checkbox"/> Grain Spawn

For an additional fee of $200.00 we can bank this culture for long-term storage. However, we cannot guarantee perpetual viability. Strains often die in cold storage, or sometimes—although rarely—express a morphology different than that of the original. We have good confidence that the strain will survive the first two years. For an additional $100.00 per year after two years, we can revive the cultures and re-bank them. (Sort of like an annual check-up!) If you wish a duplicate culture sent to you, the cost is a nominal $50.00 per test tube slant after the initial shipment of cultures and spawn. Again, we cannot guarantee the cultures we create will survive long-term storage—there are simply too many factors involved.

Note: This service is only for mushroom species published on our web site, <http://www.fungi.com/cultures/cloning>. We do not accept hallucinogenic, pathogenic, mycorrhizal, or disease-bearing mushrooms. Mushrooms meeting our species criteria must be young, in the button to mid-adolescent stage, and shipped overnight, double-boxed, with ample cold packs. Mushrooms should be refrigerated overnight prior to the day they are shipped.

We reserve the right to refuse service to anyone for any reason.

–Fungi Perfecti, LLC